Scranton Withdrawal Leaves No GOP Void

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Thurston B. Morton expressed belief today Republicans will have plenty of potential presidential candidates in 1968 if the party makes as good a showing as he thinks it will in elections this fall.

Thus, Morton, former GOP national chairman who now is the Republicans' Senate campaign chairman, didn't think Gov. William W. Scranton's surprise withdrawal from the future political scene left an open field to former Vice President Richard M. Nixon or Gov. George Romney of Michigan.

Neither has announced any intention to try for the Republican presidential nomination in 1968. But Nixon and Romney are the most often mentioned possibilities for the GOP sweepstakes. New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, like Scranton, has dropped out.

Morton said "there's no use speculating on 1968 until we get through with 1966 and see how the leadership develops."

"After the defeat we took in '64, at the state as well as the national level, we must show some signs of life to develop the interest that would encourage someone to step forward and carry the banner."

"If we make the gains I think we will make this year there will be plenty of candidates for the nomination."

Rockefeller told a Washington news conference "there's no question that Scranton could help Romney toward the 1968 presidential nomination by announcing support of the Michigan governor."

In Lansing, Mich., Romney said Scranton is "well qualified to serve in important national capacities. Even though he has indicated he will not again stand as a candidate for elective office, I am hopeful he will continue to contribute in strengthening the Republican party and in serving the nation."

Five Killed In Ohio Explosion

MCARTHUR, Ohio (AP) — At least five persons were reported to have been killed today in an explosion at the Austin Powder Co. plant, a few miles east of here.

Both the Ohio Highway Patrol headquarters and sheriff's deputies said the first reports they received were that five persons had been killed. The plant employs about 200 persons.

Details of the blast were not immediately available.

The plant manufactures dynamite powder.

The highway patrol said its officers had not been permitted on the grounds of the plant, apparently because of the danger of other explosions. Sheriff's deputies were on the scene.

Negro Decade Of Gain Endangered

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department says Negroes gained substantial ground in employment the past 10 years, but stand to lose most of it by 1975 unless they win a bigger share of white collar and skilled jobs.

Employment of Negroes and other nonwhites increased from 6.4 million to 7.7 million since 1955 — a much faster rate of growth than for white workers, said a report in the Monthly Labor Review.

This brought the ratio of non-white workers to total employment from 10.2 per cent in 1955 to 10.7 per cent in 1965, it said.

"Nevertheless nonwhite workers continue to be disproportionately concentrated in less skilled blue-collar and service occupations," said the report by Joe L. Russell of the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

If nonwhites continue to hold the same proportion of jobs, their ratio of total employment will slip back to 10.3 per cent by 1975, the report said, and their unemployment rate could be doubled because of the growing population.

Despite the 10-year growth in jobs, unemployment for non-whites averaged at least twice the rate for white workers and will be reduced in the future only if government and private job training programs and new laws against employment discrimination have a major impact, Russell said.

The low skilled occupations in which Negroes and other non-white workers are now largely concentrated are expected to grow more slowly than other jobs, Russell said.

More than half the 1.3 million gain in nonwhite employment the past 10 years was in white collar jobs but still, less than one-fifth of all employed non-whites held such jobs compared with nearly one-half of all employed white workers.

Buddhists Try To Break Viet Uneasy Truce

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A 26-year-old Buddhist nun burned herself to death today in the courtyard of a small pagoda in Da Nang. She was the sixth Buddhist to take her life by fire since Sunday in a wave of antigovernment fanaticism that continues despite appeals by Buddhist leaders to stop it.

Monks said the nun, Thich Nu Dieu Dinh, left behind a letter for President Johnson charging that "Vietnamese Buddhists were annihilated by your policies in Viet Nam."

The suicide indicated the strong opposition among extremist Buddhists to a truce negotiated by Buddhist moderates with Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's military regime.

Another development that imperiled that agreement was the resignation today of the moderate head of the Buddhist Institute, Thich (venerable) Tam Chau, the chief Buddhist negotiator with the government.

Apparently acting under pressure from the militants in the unified Buddhist church, Tam Chau said in his letter of resignation: "I have tried to solve the present situation but I have failed." A special council will be convened to decide whether to accept the resignation, but Buddhist sources said this might take two or three days.

US Warplanes Keep Pressure On North Viet

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Waves of American warplanes pounded North Viet Nam Thursday for the fourth straight day of heavy raids.

The Navy and Air Force attack planes hit once again at Communist antiaircraft sites—a main target all week—and also at oil depots, storage areas and river traffic.

U.S. military headquarters reported one F105 Thunderchief was shot down over North Viet Nam today. The pilot, Capt. Robert B. Pielin, 34, of Chicago, was plucked out of the sea two miles off Dong Hoi in a daring and dangerous rescue by an Albatross flying boat.

The rescue plane landed under heavy fire from Communist artillery and small arms to pick up Pielin within 10 minutes, and he was flown to Da Nang, in South Viet Nam. Bruises were his only injury.

Pielin's plane was the seventh reported lost since Monday, when improved weather permitted resumption of heavy attacks on the North, and the 25th reported downed by the North Vietnamese since American planes began attacking north of the 17th parallel 16 months ago.

Ground action in South Viet Nam continued light as it has all week.

In the largest of scattered small fights, troops of the South Korean Tiger Division reported killing 32 Viet Cong in two brisk engagements Thursday night and this morning.

The Korean troops are attached to units of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division and Vietnamese units in the combined Operation Crazy Horse. This is a continuing sweep about 20 miles north of An Khe and 270 miles northeast of Saigon and has been going on since May 16.

The U.S. command credited the combined force with killing 390 Viet Cong since then and capturing 31, while sustaining light casualties themselves.

Peking Mayor Loses Party Post In Purge

TOKYO (AP) — Peng Chen, mayor of Peking and one of the Chinese Communist party's top members, was apparently stripped of his party post today as part of the current widespread purge of dissident elements.

Without mentioning the mayor's name, Peking radio in a Chinese-language broadcast announced the appointment of Li Hsueh-feng as first secretary of the party's Peking central committee. This was the post Peng Chen held before some of his close associates were accused of "anti-party, antisocialist" activities.

Peng Chen has not been reported seen in public for more than two months, and there had been rumors that he was marked for the purge.

The purge apparently has entered a new phase, with the party leadership intensifying its crackdown and admitting the opposition is "still very powerful." Editorials in the official Peking People's Daily and other published statements this week show that the cleanup is not having smooth sailing.

Peng Chen, now 67, reportedly ranked ninth among Red China's leaders and once was regarded as a possible successor to Mao Tze-tung.

Biggest U.P. Forest Fire Since '47

900 Acres Near Gwinn Burned

The biggest forest fire in the Upper Peninsula since 1947 swept through about 900 acres east of Gwinn before being brought under control about 7:30 last night.

Michigan Department of Conservation fire crews, aided by civilian volunteers from the Gwinn area and scores of military personnel from nearby K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base, battled flames for about 6 hours before the fire was secured.

Fanned by strong southwest wind and aided by low humidity, the fire cut a two mile path varying in width from a quarter to a half mile, between Swanzey, Little and Cameron lakes.

Conservation Department officials said the fire is believed to have been started by sparks from a Chicago & North Western Railway ore train. First report of the fire was received at 1:30 p. m., shortly after an ore train had passed. The fire—actually three separate spot fires that burned together—started on the north side of the railroad tracks.

Some state land and a considerable amount of private land was burned. Although flames threatened several lake-

Surveyor Success Puts Program Ahead By Year

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Surveyor 1, triumphant U. S. spacecraft with feet planted firmly on the moon, radioed its second long stream of pictures early today — photos of itself and lunar terrain, containing no surprises.

Some of the second series were out of focus, hurriedly taken to speed the camera on a full-circle sweep of the landing site — the Sea of Storms near the moon's equator.

Others of the series were remarkably detailed, some showing items as small as one-eighth of an inch. Scientists, after studying results of the full-circle sweep, plan later to turn the camera back to snap interesting areas.

The 620-pound spacecraft settled gently on its three shock-absorbing legs early Thursday after a spectacularly successful 63-hour voyage over a quarter of a million miles.

Scientists said the accomplishment put the Surveyor program — an effort involving plans for a total of seven Surveyor shots at a cost of $725 million — ahead by one year.

The feat, history's first truly soft landing on the moon, was hailed as a significant advance in the race to land men on the lunar surface by 1970.

It also brought from President Johnson, along with praise, a renewed call for preserving the reaches of space for peaceful, scientific activities.

"Overnight," Johnson said, "the eyes of Surveyor 1 have become the eyes of the world on the moon. Another exciting chapter in the peaceful exploration of the universe is open for men to read and share."

Gemini 10 Set To Go July 18

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The smoke around the launch pad barely cleared today in the wake of Gemini 9 before crews began clearing debris in preparation for launching Gemini 10, now scheduled to blast off July 18.

The Titan 2 rocket that will carry Gemini 10 astronauts John W. Young and Michael Collins on a three-day rendezvous and space walk mission is due to be erected Tuesday or Wednesday.

Navy Cmdr. Young and Air Force Maj. Collins plan to rendezvous with an Agena target satellite and carry out a lengthy space walk by Collins.

Gemini 10 plans to rendezvous with a target satellite already in orbit — the Agena launched for the Gemini 8 mission March 16.

Flint To Open New Art Center Wing On Nov. 4

FLINT (AP) — The Flint Institute of Arts announced today $25,000 in purchase prizes to be awarded Nov. 4-Dec. 31 in an exhibition in which some 150 major artists and sculptors will be invited to participate.

Opening of the exhibition will coincide Nov. 4 with dedication of a new $900,000 wing for the DeWaters Art Center, which houses the institute.

Funds for the new wing were donated by philanthropist Charles Stewart Mott.

Teachers For 75,000 Pupils Playing Hooky

DETROIT (AP) — Some 2,000 public school teachers were expected to remain off their jobs in several southeast Michigan communities today as at least two school districts sought injunctions to stop the walkouts.

Nearly all of the 103 public schools affected were closed Thursday, with classes suspended for most of the more than 76,000 pupils enrolled.

The teachers' refusal to report to classrooms supported new contract demands for higher salaries.

In Lansing, Gov. George Romney met with members of the State Labor Mediation Board to discuss the situation. He then announced he would call a meeting of state educational leaders in his office Tuesday.

Invited to the conference were top officers of the MEA, MFT, Michigan Association of School Administrators and Michigan Association of School Boards.

Also invited to attend were the state superintendent of public instruction, the president of the State Board of Education and representatives of the State Labor Mediation Board.

Earlier, Romney criticized the teachers' strike plans, declaring "we can't have individual groups taking the law into their own hands and have an orderly society."

Plan To Catch Up On Target At 2:30 P.M.

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Gemini 9 astronauts — shattering a 17-day jinx — rode a mighty Titan 2 rocket into orbit today and sped at 17,500 miles an hour toward a rendezvous with a target satellite.

After two heartbreaking scrubs, astronauts Thomas P. Stafford and Eugene A. Cernan finally got going on a vital, three-day flight that could bring the U.S. its second space triumph of a busy week.

"For the third time, go!" Stafford quipped as he sat in the spacecraft poised for the launch.

Just 31 hours after the Surveyor moonship landed softly on the lunar surface and sent back dramatic pictures of possible manned landing sites, the Titan propelled Gemini 9 aloft on a vital, three-day rendezvous and space walk mission.

The big Titan, with the rays of a bright sun glistening on its sides, rose slowly from its launch pad and sped out over the Atlantic Ocean, followed by a big white tail of vapor.

"We're right down the middle," flight director Eugene Kranz shouted.

"Everything," he told Stafford, "is green and go."

It's Fantastic

"We're on our way!" Stafford yelled exultantly. "It's fantastic."

Before returning to earth, the astronauts were to perform many of the maneuvers Apollo space men will make on round-trip journeys to the moon.

A year and a day after Edward H. White II became the first American to walk in space, Cernan was to climb out of the space ship Saturday and for 2½ hours hurtle through the skies as a human satellite.

A barrel-shaped target satellite — fired into orbit Wednesday before a communications failure forced the second scrub of the Gemini launch — flashed across the Cape as the Titan roared to life.

The 11-foot-long target satellite, a tiny dot in the vastness of space, was entering its 30th revolution of the earth as Stafford and Cernan began their hot pursuit.

They planned to close in on the quarry after a four-hour chase covering 75,000 miles.

Not until they were within eyesight of the satellite would the astronauts know whether a shroud protecting it from the heat and pressures of blastoff fell away when the target separated from its Atlas booster.

If it had not, they would have to cancel plans for a linkup of the two orbiting vehicles, for the shroud covers the docking collar on the satellite. They would, however, be able to practice a series of rendezvous maneuvers.

Stafford made his first move in the chase just seconds after the Gemini went into orbit. He fired his jet thrusters to adjust the high point of the space ship's orbital path to about 172 miles.

As the rocket rose, capsule communicator Neil A. Armstrong, who commanded the Gemini 8 flight, told the astronauts they were "go for staging."

"Roger, understand we're go," Stafford replied.

When the second stage separated, Stafford saw a fireball behind them. "It's fantastic," he said.

"Great Day"

When the 138-foot gantry was pulled away from the spacecraft this morning, and light broke into the capsule, Cernan murmured: "Oh, boy!" Stafford added, "It's a great day."

And it was. Proving that third time is charm, the Titan vaulted off its pad at 9:39 a.m. EDT, riding its blazing trail of hot gases to more than 100 miles out into space.

By the time the space ship settled into orbit, the target satellite had sped 428 miles ahead of them—and the chase was on. It was to terminate high over the western Pacific about 2:30 p.m.

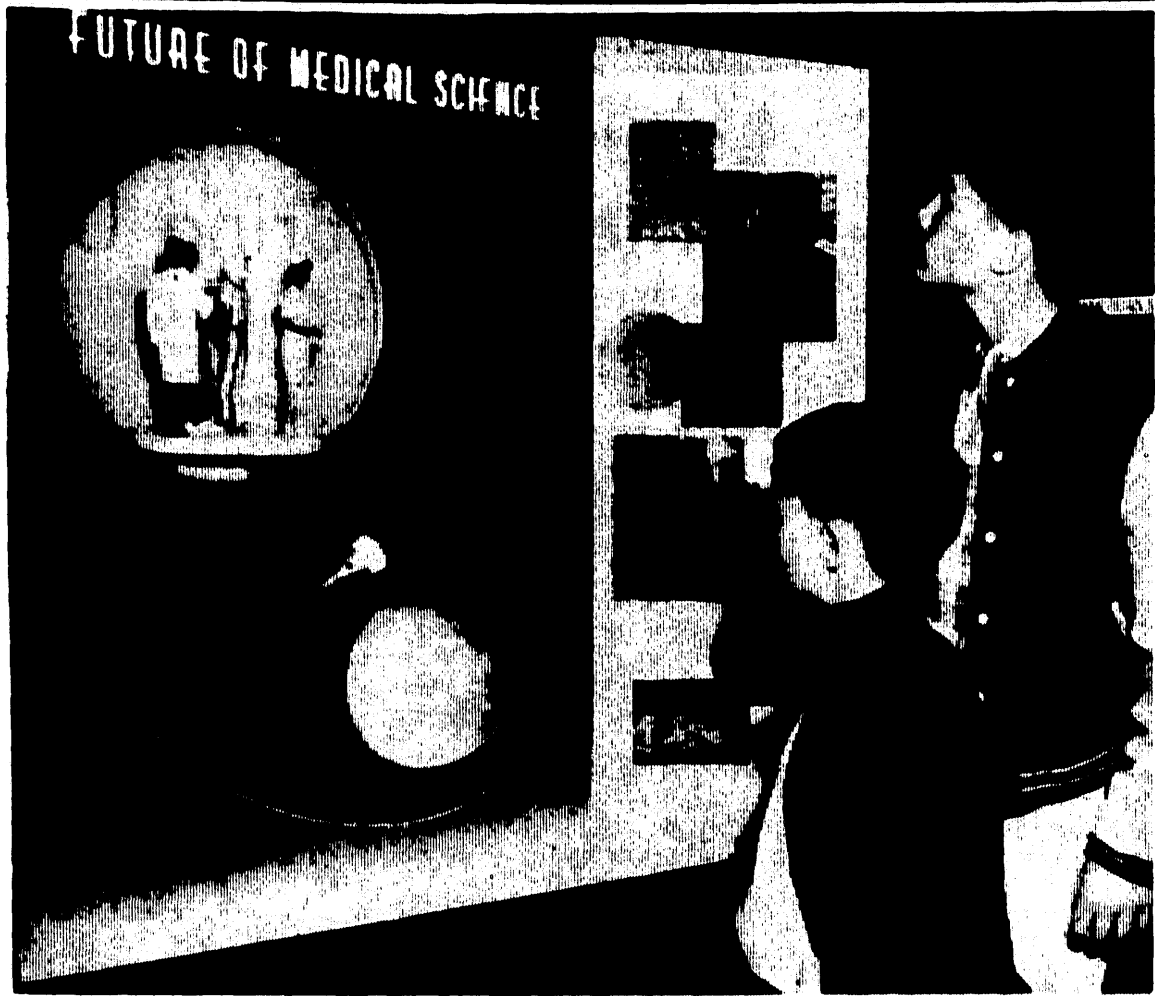

This would be two hours less than the time Gemini 8 astronauts took in March when they executed history's first

Medical Society Visit

Famed Painting Exhibited

One of the most famous contributions made by Michigan to medicine is illustrated in an original painting that is one of the features of the Michigan State Medical Society Healthmobile, on public exhibition in Escanaba through June 7 at S. 10th and Ludington Streets.

The Healthmobile includes the original painting by Dean Cornwell of "Beaumont and St. Martin" and tells the story about how Dr. William Beaumont discovered the process of digestion in 1822 at Mackinac Island.

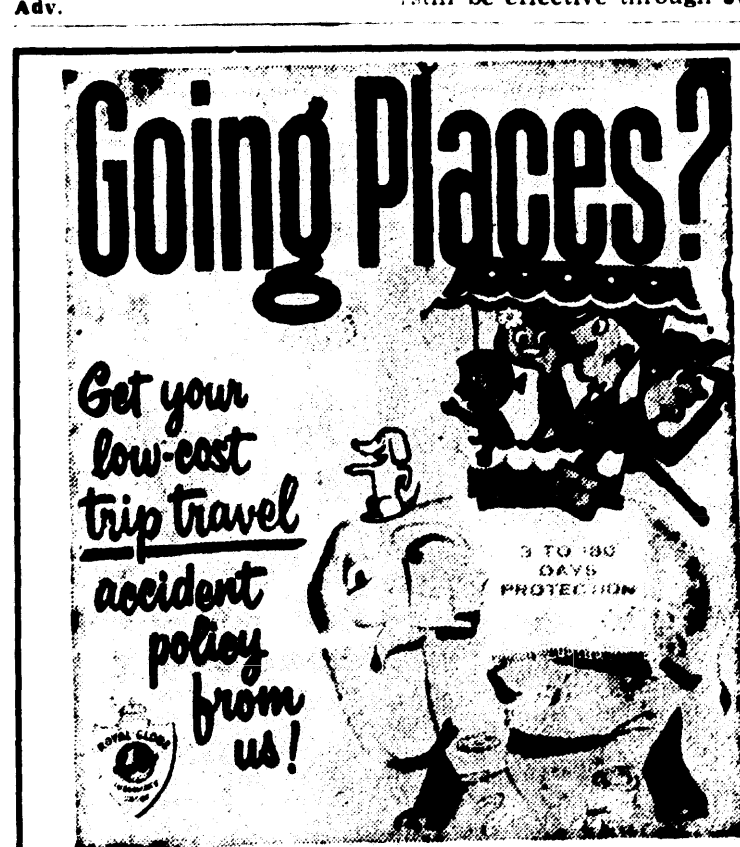

The painting shows Dr. Beaumont kneeling at the bedside of Alexis St. Martin, a French Canadian voyageur. St. Martin, while in a trading post on Mackinac Island, had suffered an accidental gunshot wound which opened his abdomen.

Dr. Beaumont saved St. Martin's life but the opening to his stomach caused by the wound did not heal. It was through this "window" in St. Martin's stomach that Dr. Beaumont observed experiments that led to the first information about the process of digestion.

The painting, when not in the Healthmobile, is hung in the Beaumont Memorial Building on Mackinac Island. The Beaumont building, on the site of the American Fur Co., retail store where St. Martin was wounded, was reconstructed by the Michigan State Medical Society and given to the Citizens of Michigan as a museum in 1934.

Milk Marketing Hearing Posted

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has announced it will hold 4 regional public hearings to consider the appropriate level of fluid milk (Class 1) prices for July through December, 1966, for all 73 Federal Milk Marketing Orders.

The hearings will be held at Denver, Colorado, June 6, St. Louis, (for the Upper Peninsula) Missouri, June 7, Washington, D. C., June 9, and Cleveland June 10.

The hearings were requested by representatives of dairy farmers, who said present or potential shortages of milk exist in their areas and in general throughout the nation, and have asked for emergency action to avert these shortages.

The temporary fluid milk prices which were set by USDA on April 10, to alleviate potential shortages in the milk order markets, are due to expire June 30, except for a few markets with seasonal pricing, where the temporary price will still be effective through July.

Wildlife Harmed By 'Clean' Land

Do deer, grouse, and rabbits run for cover on your farm? Or is the cover—and the wildlife, too, all on the neighbor's land?

"Modern game management and good farming practices go hand in hand," says Verne M. Bathurst, state conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service. "Conservation farming aids wildlife even when no thought is given to its effects. However, it's better to provide for wildlife on purpose than to do it accidentally."

Pointing out the abundance of technical help available from wildlife biologists and other conservationists serving landowners in the Delta Soil Conservation District, Bathurst urged farm and city folks alike to give attention to wildlife needs in this year's farming and landscaping.

"Those who practice 'clean farming' are doing harm to wildlife and often to the soil itself. But folks who live in the cities and suburbs also have a responsibility to provide the right kind of food, shelter, and water for the most desirable mammals and song birds," Bathurst said.

The best job of wildlife production comes from cooperation, he explained. He pointed out the cumulative effect of practices applied on adjacent farms and rural lots—the complimentary effect of guidance from the University, State, and USDA's Soil Conservation Service biologists.

Soil Conservationist Irwin J. Ten Haken at Escanaba ties recommendations of the biologists into a sustained use plan for the land, taking into account other goals of the landowner, he added.

"The conservation plan provides an orderly approach for any farm owner or operator who would like to combine the best wildlife practices with the best farming practices," said Mel Taylor, chairman of the Delta district.

According to Ten Haken, nearly all soil and water conservation plans he has helped with the past year have included practices beneficial to wildlife. Most progress, though, has been in food patch planting, shrubs, and wildlife ponds.

Information on wildlife practices and sources of planting stock such as shrubs and trees can be obtained from the Soil Conservation Service office, Room 308, Federal Building, Escanaba.

Govt. By Union

Escanaba city policemen have notified the city that they want the Teamsters to bargain for them on wages and hours and working conditions. The City has asked the Michigan Labor Mediation Board to conduct an election to certify that the Teamsters represent a majority of the policemen, as stated in their affidavit. There is every prospect that the election will bear out the claim of the policemen that they want representation by the Teamsters.

There is a fair-sized public flap over this suggestion, as we read the public conversation, but no public inclination to do anything about it. If the policemen had chosen the Confectionery Workers to represent them there would be little interest in the situation. But the Teamsters are noted for hard-nosed bargaining and this seems to be the reason why the policemen want their protection. They expect the Teamsters to get things for them that they haven't got for themselves.

The question for public policy determination then becomes: what proper pressures can the union bring upon the city to raise policemen's pay? In their own province of trucking, the Teamsters, when the drivers for a firm choose them as their agent, can carry a dispute to a strike as a final test of strength for settlement.

This would be unthinkable in an organization as symbolic of law and order as a police force. The state law, Public Act No. 379 of 1965, which opened the gate to representation of government employees by labor unions, is concerned about this. Its solution is to prohibit strikes but not permit automatic firing of strikers; leaving the legal status of the individual absentee in a muddy condition. For our money it's a legal quibble that could foster great mischief by individual action while avoiding a concerted strike.

The concept of exclusive representation for public employees is rather new and there isn't much experience that can be brought to bear on the current situation here in setting sound policy. When the Michigan Legislature was considering this law in the last session the Michigan Municipal League asked that a number of changes be made in the bill. The Legislature didn't make them.

One of the requested changes was that the right of a policeman to join a bargaining unit be limited to prevent membership in unions where there might be a conflict of interest. This subject is a matter of continuing study by the League's Employee Relations Committee.

The Legislature, when passing this act, also considered a bill to provide for compulsory arbitration of public employee disputes. This latter bill was defeated in the Senate by one vote. It was later re-referred to the Senate Labor Committee, where it still is alive, along with another measure passed by the House this year providing for compulsory arbitration of disputes involving firemen and policemen.

Municipal officials throughout Michigan have been more concerned with this kind of arbitration legislation than with the effects of the union bargaining law passed last year, since it has been the position of municipal officials generally in Michigan that legislation providing for compulsory arbitration will completely destroy the principle of local representative government in Michigan. It would delegate powers given by the people to their elected representatives to an outside arbiter responsible to no one.

This type of legislation poses dangers to the process of self-government because it intrudes between the citizenry and their government employees third parties who are not responsible to the public and — when it is suggested that this process is perilous to the public interest — arbitration is proposed as a solution.

This would take determination of the public interest one more step away from the people and give their power to the union and the arbiter. A municipality would pay the bills, but it wouldn't have much control over the processes that made them.

At the Michigan Labor Relations Board hearing in Escanaba on the petition for the election, a Teamsters representative said that the Teamsters would never expect the police to violate the law in their support of the Teamsters' position. Well we should certainly hope not. But there would still remain the question of the policemen's loyalty, divided between their employer and their bargaining agent. And there could be a conflict of interest.

The policemen do not think so, or they expect to take care of any such situation when it comes along, but the situation is new and unique and troublesome to municipal officials in Michigan as they look ahead to the difficulties for municipalities opened up by public employees availing themselves of the benefits of union bargaining.

Policemen are not clerical workers or construction workers. There is a special sensitivity of public interest in their jobs. It is conceivable that the Teamsters might wonder about the impartiality and objectivity of police action affecting them if the policemen were members of the United Auto Workers, and vice versa. Any such situation would mean that the public interest, which always rides with equal treatment for everybody, would suffer an erosion of image if not of actual quality.

The Legislature yielded to government employee pressures in this legislation. The government employees very naturally and deservedly want to share the affluence they think goes in greater jobs to industrial employees. But industrial employees do not represent the public interest. The situation is one that calls for study of end results before action.

Job Skill Plan For Schools Is Needed In Peninsula

Vocational education is one of the toughest nuts that schooling has to crack in the Upper Peninsula.

As Menominee County wrestles with its problems of school district consolidation to provide K-12 districts, it cites that 60 per cent of students in its northern area do not go to college. In other U. P. areas similar situations prevail.

Vocational education aims to provide these young people who do not go from high school to college, but from high schools to jobs, with better preparation for better jobs.

The problem got its most thorough recent review at the Conference for the Improvement of Education in Michigan's Upper Peninsula at Northern Michigan University, Marquette, on May 9.

Labels Hurt

Joseph Tuma, executive director of UPCA, whose Human Resources Committee asked for the U. P. conference, was moderator of the panel on vocational education. He is a manpower training specialist and a United Auto Workers Union career man.

The conference concerned itself with definitions and found it is hurtful to the cause of vocational education to have the term "non-college" used to describe the students who do not plan to obtain a baccalaureate degree (bachelor's degree in a 4-year college).

Actually, most high school graduates get some sort of schooling after high school, in a service school, in an on-the-job training program, in technical institutes, community colleges, etc.

The term "vocational" education covers authority for use of government funds for this purpose — the Vocational Education Act of 1963, etc. — but "occupational" would be better. What's meant is training for jobs.

Figures Questioned

Gerald Caspary of Michigan Tech told the panel that if schools are going to teach for employment, they should give the skill some depth. President Richard Rinehart of Bay de Noc Community College disagreed with figures suggesting that 70 out of 100 high school students should take an occupational program. He said it should be nearer 50. He said that a large number of occupations call for a greater depth of understanding and skills than can be taught in high school.

The high schools, he said, have an obligation to teach English, math, civics and other general education subjects and don't have time to build up technical specialties.

Consulting educators said that school restructuring should consider the needs of vocational education. The State Department of Education and the U. S. Office of Education are both promoting the concept of Area Vocational Centers. This implies a district large enough to have 5 to 10 completely separate occupational programs, involving 200 or more students.

Large Districts Eyed

In the U. P. this would mean high schools of Class A. Menominee County could form one Class A high school. The Area Vocational Centers would probably serve county districts and vocational funds in the future would go only to Area Vocational Centers.

Residential schools for students living away from home were not favored in the panel discussion, so transportation money was considered essential to the success of the new vocational education program. At the present time the state pays only for the bussing of elementary and secondary school students and there are legal problems in using the buses for transporting students from outside the owner district.

Right Tugs At Nixon

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

NEW YORK (NEA) — Richard M. Nixon, long accepted in Republican circles as a "centrist" with feet in both the progressive and conservative camps, is moving deliberately to prevent himself from falling captive of the eager

With hero Barry Goldwater off the main scene, conservatives are tugging at Nixon, trying to lock him in a tight embrace that will make him their own.

Realistically, the former vice president sees the danger to his prized center position. Interviewed in his Broad St. law office in lower Manhattan, he says:

"I've been through all this before. I can't be pulled to the right, and I can't be pulled to the left."

Party veterans vividly recall 1952, when GOP conservatives laid such heavy claim to the late Sen. Robert A. Taft that his moderate record and outlook on education and housing were lost from sight.

Aware of rising reports that he is becoming the darling of the conservatives, and particularly those in the segregationist South, Nixon recently made two quick moves to reassert his independence of such alliances. The one-two punch was not accidental.

On a Friday, he went to Jackson, Miss., to tell southerners at a party fund-raising dinner that the race issue should be dropped from the GOP's Dixie campaigns and that no national Republican platform should contain a segregationist plank. (He added, however, that the national party should not dictate the content of state platforms.)

Two days later, in a nationally syndicated article, Nixon struck the same basic note— even harder. He wrote:

"Southern Republicans must not climb aboard the sinking ship of racial injustice. . . . Any Republican victory that would come of courting racists, black or white, would be a defeat for our future in the South, and our party in the nation. It would be a battle won in a lost cause."

Not only on the race issue but on the general catalogue of conservative positions, Nixon insists the partisans of the right will discover on closer reading—that he is not their man.

He argues that many of the party's less militant and more traditional conservatives—state leaders, county chairmen and other party-backbone types—already appreciate this. Says he:

"I think they are drawn to me because they see me as a party man."

His credentials as a doer of good party works are indeed impeccable. And since this approach led him in 1964 to do the good soldier bit for Goldwater, this is one more reason why southern conservatives, particularly, are now grasping at his lapels.

(Southerners also seem to be persuaded that, in his heart, Nixon is much more conservative than he lets on publicly.)

But Nixon is firm on the subject: "I take many stands they could not approve. . . . I'm an international, pro-foreign aid, a hard-liner but not a hawk on Viet Nam, and so on."

A June 7 GOP governorship nomination—and later election—for Ronald Reagan of California, a staunch right-wing favorite, would do much to loosen the conservatives' embrace of Nixon.

Without that, he might be hard-pressed to maintain his center position despite his expressed intentions.

Leading Republican progressives often are urged to join hands soon after this November's elections, in support of a new-face candidate like Gov. George Romney of Michigan for the 1968 presidential nomination.

Should such a coalition of support occur, Nixon's backing for 1968 almost inevitably would be polarized at the conservative end of the party spectrum.

The Doctor Ann Landers

Says: Leave No Details For Others To Bring Up

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt

Q—I had my left breast removed because of suspicious cells. The surgeon said there was no evidence of cancer. Of what disease am I a victim?

A—If the suspicious tissues of the removed breast were examined microscopically by a competent pathologist and no evidence of cancer was found you are a victim of a policy of better safe than sorry, but not of cancer.

Q—I am 14 and my breasts are very large. Is there anything I can do to reduce them?

A—Some people are never satisfied. An operation to remove some of the breast tissue could be done but is not advisable. Taking male hormones might prevent any further development of your breasts but they would probably also stiffen your beard. Better let well enough alone.

Q—I am 16. Last month I started to have a slight yellow discharge from my breasts. What would cause this and what should I do?

A—This may disappear spontaneously but if it persists for 2 or 3 months it may be an indication of a tumor of the pituitary. If this is the case, X-ray treatments directed at this gland provide the surest cure.

Q—I have a tennis elbow which hurts when I lift anything. How can I get rid of it?

A—This is a form of bursitis and judging by the letters I get there must be an epidemic of this disease. Moderate movement is necessary to prevent stiffening of the joint. Hot applications, diathermy or ultrasound treatments and a short course of cortisone should help you if the condition has not become chronic.

Q—Is it usual for a woman to develop a lot of pimples on her face during the menopause?

A—Acne in adolescents is caused by an increased activity of the oil glands of the skin. When the regular internal secretion of the sex hormones becomes established in the late teens or early 20s the acne usually clears up. Estrogens (female hormones) have long been used with some limitations in the treatment of persistent acne. Thus it would seem logical to expect an increase in acne when the ovaries no longer produce their own estrogens. This would occur, however, only in a woman whose skin was unusually oily. A carefully regulated maintenance dose of estrogens should help in such a case.

Reports indicate that the California condor is gradually becoming extinct. Only 40 now survive, compared with 60 in 1950.

Dear Ann Landers: I think it's mighty noble of you to want to buck up the women over 40 when they write and say they are pregnant (and ready to kill themselves) but have you ever stopped to think about how life looks to children who are born to women past 40? I know because I am one.

My father died before I graduated from high school—of old age, of course. I never knew a grandparent. My nieces and nephews are just about my age. (My nephew went to school with me and it was pretty embarrassing to have that little runt call me auntie.)

Please quit telling those old crows how great the "late divinity" can be.—ONE MYSELF

Dear One: Those women don't ask whether or not they should have late babies. They are already pregnant! I try to make them feel good about it.

As for you—wouldn't you rather have been born late than never?

Dear Ann Landers: I was adopted by a wonderful family when I was an infant. Mom and dad are the only parents I have ever known. They did not tell me I was adopted because I was a delicate child and they didn't want to add to my problem.

A neighbor woman blurted it out one day and it had a terrible effect on me. Why, oh why, can't people keep their mouths shut?

Now I am going through the same thing again. We have three children and two are adopted. We have never told our adopted children about their history because we did not want them to feel different from our blood child.

Everything was going along fine until last week when we visited relatives in another state. My sister-in-law's children spilled the beans.

Now our adopted children are bitter and resentful. They say we tried to fool them and they are sullen and withdrawn.

Please, Ann Landers, tell the people that's up to the parents to tell or NOT to tell their children if they are adopted. Outsiders should shut up about it.—SALT LAKE MOTHER

Dear Mother: If you had grown up with the knowledge that you were adopted—as you should have—the neighbor's remark would have had no effect on you whatever. If your children had been told at an early age that they were chosen because they were very special and you wanted them very much, they would not feel betrayed now.

People talk—and they especially like to talk about other people. To expect the whole world to keep your secret was a foolish miscalculation. I have said this repeatedly in my column and I'll say it again. All adopted children should be told by their parents as soon as they learn to talk. This information, when offered by an outsider, can produce wounds that never heal.

Dear Ann: I'm 28 and engaged to marry a fine girl. Problem: I was divorced two years ago. No children. No alimony. No dirt. I want to tell my fiancée's parents BEFORE we marry. She says no. She feels they will take it better after we are married. What do you say?—R. R.

Dear R. R.: Tell them at once. And don't leave out any details for others to provide—as they inevitably will if you give them the opportunity.

Awkward and self-conscious? Unsure of yourself? Write for Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key To Popularity," enclosing with your request 35c in coin and a long, self-addressed and stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped and self-addressed envelope.

Lockheed Finds Minorities Jobs

LOS ANGELES (AP) — In May of 1961 Lockheed Aircraft Corp. was first to sign for the federal government's equal opportunity employment program, aimed at finding jobs for minorities.

"We didn't wait for them to apply, we sought them out," says James Hodgson, director of industrial relations.

Result: Lockheed now reports that 6,500 of its 84,000 employees are members of minority groups — and among the 6,500 there are 2 1/2 times as many in managerial or professional jobs than in unskilled or service work.

To help make its planes, ships, missiles and a host of other things the firm goes after Indians in Washington, Mexican-Americans in Arizona, Filipinos in California, Negroes in Georgia and Alabama.

It says 91 such employees are managers at $10,000 to $20,000 a year; 967 are scientists, engineers or accountants at $8,000 to $20,000, and 4,404 are in such skills as lathe operators, flight mechanics, carpenters, electricians, at $5,000 to $7,000.

Federal civil rights laws can be met by hiring service workers. Lockheed is one of 328 major firms joining voluntarily a federal "plan for progress" to recruit minority workers above the janitorial level.

How does it work? Lockheed representatives go into minority-living areas sometimes 20 miles from plants, leaving job lists with ministers, slum-area employment offices and such organizations as the Urban League.

High school principals and counselors from slum schools are taken on tours of company facilities, told what's needed, what's available, and urged to spread the word.

Campus recruiters include such Negro colleges as Howard and Tuskegee Institute in their rounds.

Lockheed's industrial union, International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers, pushes a summer-long apprentice program for skill training. In Georgia, the union has several Negro business agents.

More people get more news from newspapers than from all other sources combined.

Puffin Rowers 98 Miles Out

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Two English journalists are apparently making some headway in their efforts to row across the Atlantic in a 15-foot rowboat.

David Johnstone, 34, and John Hoare, 29, were paid an unexpected visit Thursday and found out they had advanced 98 miles toward England since departing Virginia Beach May 21.

The radar of the submarine Cutlass spotted the rowboat named Puffin at a distance of about nine miles, prompting Lt. Commander Lewis B. Sykes to order his men to maneuver the sub to the rowboat's side.

Asked if they needed assistance, Hoare and Johnstone replied they were doing fine and had every intention of continuing with their venture.

Sykes told the pair they were 98 miles east-southeast of Cape Henry — a progress of 64 miles since they were last seen Saturday night.

The two had hoped to make the journey to St. Ives, England in 50 days by averaging 60 miles per day. Adverse winds during the early part of the trip has kept their average down to eight miles a day. Over the past 4½ days, however, Hoare and Johnstone had upped their average to better than 14 miles per day.

Detention Cells Have Paper Wall

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — The detention cells in the Springfield Courthouse have been keeping a secret for years — one wall was made of heavy cardboard.

The wall was painted to match the other, more solid walls of the cell block.

A curious policeman, not a prisoner, made the discovery Thursday. Springfield police have been using the courthouse cells for detention while a new station is being built.

Work began right away to make the fake wall secure.

Artley and his wife, Arlene, 49, were slightly injured and Sharon Allsworth, 22, also of Cornell, a passenger in the Artley car, was treated at St. Francis Hospital and released. Lake was a passenger in the Grenier car.

Police ticketed Artley for failing to yield the right of way.

Black Book Is Evidence For Bribery Case

DETROIT (AP) — A little black book listing names of individuals and amounts of money has been offered as evidence in the pretrial examination of two Detroit restaurateurs accused of bribery.

Recorder's Judge Vincent Brennan approved only one page of the book as evidence at this time.

A police undercover agent, Sgt. Billy Starks, said he personally confiscated the little black book, along with a sheet of paper headed "Christmas" and another little book containing a list of names and telephone numbers.

The items were seized when police raided the Grecian Gardens restaurant in a move ordered by a one-man grand jury investigating crime in Wayne County.

Charged with bribery and conspiracy to bribe are Costas Colacides, owner of the cafe, and Peter Vitale, the night manager. Sgt. Starks testified that both defendants bribed him to ignore gambling at the restaurant and his name was entered in the little black book.

DON'T SKIMP BATHROOM

If you're building a home this year, make sure your bathrooms are big enough. For instance, the typical 5-by-7 bathroom is really too small for the quality fixtures you want. You can squeeze in a small tub, water closet and lavatory. But there's no room for a countertop lavatory with twin bowls and storage space beneath. There's no room for the bidet, which is becoming more popular in America today and is highly recommended by many physicians for its hygienic value. Besides adding to your family's convenience, larger bathrooms increase the resale value of your house, if you ever decide to sell.

Ranch Goes In Two Directions

By ANDY LANG

This stylish L-shaped ranch house of contemporary design features a cathedral ceiling in the combination living room-dining room area.

Exposed beams following the roof line increase the feeling of spaciousness. The technique adds height to the rooms as well as setting an informal base for interior decorating. It is further enhanced by a floor-to-ceiling four-sectional window wall which takes up nearly the entire rear wall, more than 24' long. The wall has a bottom ventilating hingelid sash.

Although other materials could be substituted for the exterior, the plans of architect William G. Chirgottis call for a pleasing combination of brick veneer and random-width, V-joint, red cedar vertical siding. A build-up white gravel asphalt roof is specified for its reflecting insulating value. The free and uncluttered exterior is in perfect harmony with the open living pattern within—a pattern characterized by maximum use of every square foot of floor space.

All parts of this latest House of the Week are immediately accessible from the main entrance foyer. Straight ahead is the combination living room-dining room; to the left is the bedroom wing; and to the right are the family room and the kitchen, each of which can be entered separately without crossing the other.

Because of its size and location, the family room tends to keep other areas of the house free from traffic, as it can easily accommodate a large table for informal family dining. Its proximity to the kitchen makes it convenient for the person who does the serving.

The step-saving kitchen arrangement has a full complement of appliances and is shielded from the dining room by a partition. It provides a large counter-top area and a maximum number of cabinets in a minimum amount of space. The picture window in the dinette and the window over the kitchen sink assure plenty of light and air. That window overlooks a 12' 6" by 9' porch, which adjoins the rear service entry, mud room closet and laundry. It is rare indeed when, as in this case, the lady of the house can move from the kitchen to the foyer, living room, dining room, laundry, family room, bedroom wing or basement—and never once set foot in any other room!

The three bedrooms are nicely arranged, with excellent ventilation and just enough hall space to permit easy circulation. The master bedroom has two closets and a full bath, including an oversized tiled shower stall. The main family bath is within a few steps of the other two bedrooms and the living section of the house.

With a habitable area of 1680 square feet, this dwelling has a full basement that can add more living and storage space for the family that wishes it. These days a large recreation room in the basement, with perhaps a billiard or table tennis setup, is becoming something of a status symbol.

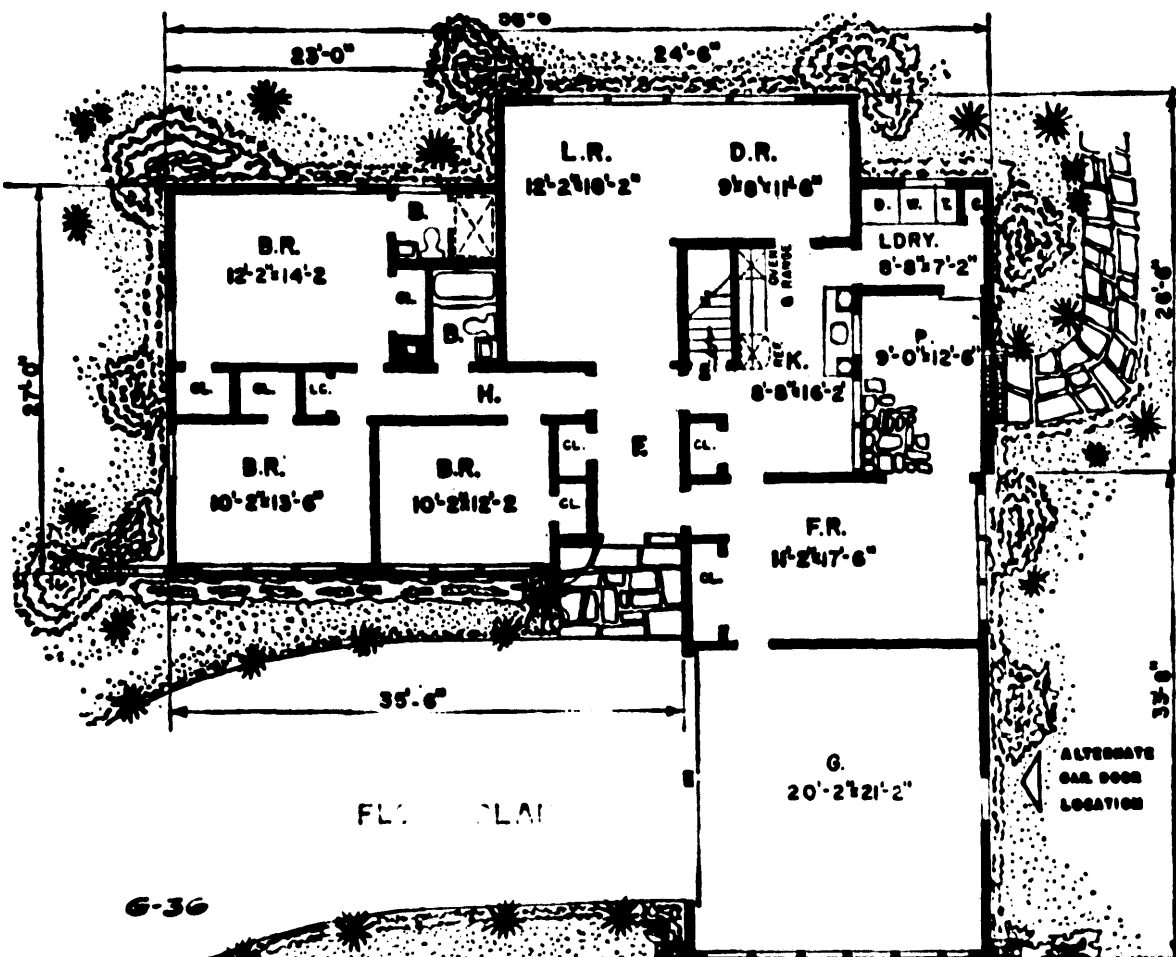

The two-car garage connects directly with the family room and is part of the house design rather than merely an appendage. Depending on the size of the lot and personal preference, the garage doors may be located at the front or to the right side rather than as shown in the plans.

Design G-36 is compact and leaves little to be desired for comfort and livability within most budgets.

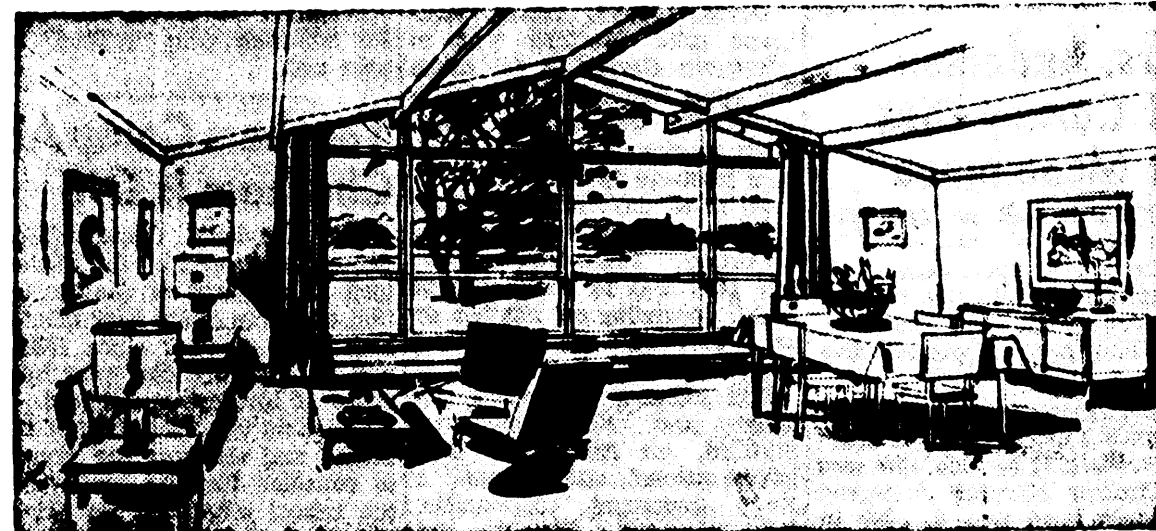

People are drinking and using the same water that existed when the world began. Water is ageless, almost indestructible, and one of the few things in nature that can be used over and over again.

L-SHAPED RANCH: Effective use of horizontal stretches of brick veneer gives contemporary tone to this three-bedroom ranch; white gravel asphalt roof provides desirable reflective value, but darker tones can be used if desired.

FLOOR PLANS: An excellent traffic pattern features room arrangement of Design G-36. Especially note how the kitchen is accessible to all other rooms, as well as to the laundry. Kitchen windows overlook a side porch and separate entryway.

COMBINATION: Partial view of combined living room - dining room with floor-to-ceiling window wall looking out to rear of house and harmonizing with exposed ceiling beams.

G-36 STATISTICS
Design G-36 has a living room, dining room, kitchen, family room, three bedrooms, two baths, laundry, side porch and two-car garage. The living area, excluding the porch and garage, totals 1680 square feet. The overall dimensions, including the garage, are 55' 6" by 68' 2". The plans include a full basement.

Seek Reopening For Old 'Met'

NEW YORK (AP) — In April the great golden curtain came down "for the last time" at the Metropolitan Opera House. Now some people want to raise it again.

The Metropolitan Opera Co. opens its new season in September in sparkling new quarters at the Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts. The old opera house is to be torn down to make way for a 40-story office building.

A fight is being led by the Citizens Committee for the Preservation of the Metropolitan Opera House, whose executive chairman is Leonard Altman. It received support this week from Mrs. John F. Kennedy.

Chief among those who want the opera house to fall before the wrecking ball is the opera company itself. It would receive an average of $484,000 a year in rent for the next 50 years from the builder, Keystone Associates.

The committee estimates that the opera house could be renovated for about $7.5 million — the same amount they figure the building could be purchased for. Anthony Bias, Met president, says renovation probably would cost closer to $14 million, and that $12 million would be needed for outright purchase.

The state legislature in Albany has passed a bill which provides a six-month stay in demolition of the opera house. It has not yet reached the desk of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Sonic Boom Reaction Is Air Force Study

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—The most searching study yet of how people react to incessant bursts of noise from the sky now is under way at this "home of the sonic boom."

The world's fastest bombers and fighters — XB70As and YF12As, capable of 2,000-mile speeds planned for upcoming fleets of supersonic transports — are hammering this 2,300-home desert community with deliberately generated booms and will continue for the next three months.

How the homes and their occupants stand up under the bombardment of man-made thunderclaps will have a major effect on the way planes are flown across populous areas of the Midwest—destined to bear the brunt when airliners now being designed start spanning the continent in two hours.

Edwards, which claims to be the first piece of real estate to feel a sonic boom—on Oct. 14, 1947, when Col. Charles Yeager flew the Bell X1 faster than sound—is superbly conditioned to such cannonading.

With experimental planes in the air virtually every sunlit hour and generating an average of 2,500 sonic booms a year, residents have become so used to window-rattling shocks they don't even look up.

If calloused ears such as these complain when XB70As begin streaking overhead with airline regularity, government planners are expected to take steps to protect boom-shy Midwesterners in the years ahead.

What those steps will be depends on information gained in the detailed study. Runs at varying speeds and altitudes will be made by several types of craft. Volunteer test subjects will be asked which of the series of booms they found most objectionable.

From this, Air Force and U.S. space agency scientists hope to work out a speed and altitude profile which will make the planes acceptable to the majority.

Booms are pressure waves created when planes, pushing and compressing the air ahead of them, exceed the speed of sound — about 660 miles an hour at 70,000 feet. The waves trail downward behind the aircraft, causing an increase in normal atmospheric pressure.

These waves of overpressure make a noise when they hit the ground. The kind of noise, or boom, depends on size, speed and shape of the aircraft, the temperature and density of the air.

Something happens to the waves when they move down from the cool, clear upper air into the hot, dirty air near the surface. Just what happens is not known, but better understanding of what booms are like before they are altered by the lower air could result in changes in aircraft design or indicate the least objectionable times of day or night for supersonic flight.

BUS PALS

LOUISVILLE (AP)—An unusual friendship has developed between bus driver Shervin Travis and the passengers he picks up in a suburban area.

When Travis married recently, his passengers chipped in with a piggy bank filled with coins to help him outfit his home.

At Christmas, they gave him a sweater, lighter and key case. A short time later, a new doughnut house opened in the area and Travis stopped on opening day and treated his friends.

City Encourages Public To Serve On Civic Bodies

When a vacancy occurs would you like to serve the community as a member of a board or commission?

The Escanaba City Council is seeking to encourage citizen participation and interest in such service, and if you are so inclined you are invited to give your name to City Manager George Harvey, or to any of the Councilmen.

The variety of Council-appointed boards and commissions provides opportunity for a variety of interests — although there's no compensation other than the knowledge of public service.

There's the Library Board, Safety Advisory Committee, Recreation Department, Planning Commission, Board of Appeals, Hearing Board of Examiners and Civil Service Commission. Some are specialized in their functions, while others require only an inclination toward civic affairs.

Tighten Attendance

Mayor Harold Vanlerberghe in a discussion of the revision of some of the boards and commissions said that persons are invited to submit their names for appointment if they wish to serve.

The discussion was related to consideration of repealing the ordinances covering a s o m e fuel and fuel oil to be supplied to the city, because of the bids submitted by Standard Oil and Theisen-Clemens Oil Co.

The low bid as determined by the city manager and department head will be accepted by the Council for a bucket loader and backhoe. Mayor Vanlerberghe questioned the specifications under which bids were invited and said in his opinion they should be more general and thus encourage more bids for the benefit of the city.

The Council accepted the resignation of Miss Bernadette Brennan from the Library Board and of Brother Nicholas from the Recreation Board with expressions of appreciation for their service.

Charter Report

The Council met with members of the Charter Review Committee, accepted their report in which they found the present charter "effective and efficient as an instrument of government" and thanked the committee for its work.

Present to discuss the report with the Council were Mrs. Elvora Veder, chairman, Mrs. Frank Neumeier and Neil Kositzky.

In accepting the report the Council moved to implement one of its recommendations by creating a charter review file for use in future consideration of charter improvements.

The Council in other business authorized the expenditure of $3,000 from the city equipment fund to repair two graders.

At the suggestion of Councilman Cox the Council authorized the city manager to make application for federal participation in a proposed sanitary sewer extending from Sylvan Point to near the south city limits.

Recreation Plan

The cost is estimated at approximately $155,000 largely borne by the city. The property owners' share would be an estimated $15,000. Federal fund participation would be helpful in reducing the local cost and providing a necessary sanitary service to the area.

An inquiry by Councilman Cox regarding planning for a community recreation building resulted in discussion that culminated in proposals to meet with the Escanaba Area School Board for further exploration of a community-school program.

Councilman Cox inquired concerning the Catherine Bonifas funds willed to the city for community use. The County Building and State Office Building projects have been accomplished and Cox suggested that action should begin on the third project—a recreation facility.

Mayor Vanlerberghe and Councilman George Rusch explained that the project has not been forgotten. There is a planning program underway that includes consideration of recreation facilities, and the proposed community-school concept has not been abandoned.

Further consideration of the recreation project will be given at a joint School Board-City Council meeting to be arranged by the manager.

AUGUST SCHULTZ of Perronville, center, discusses his growing trout pond business with an interested visitor while a non-fisherman, left, sprints to a better vantage point. Schultz, who retired from poultry farming last year, now has three ponds stocked with brook and rainbow trout. (Daily Press Photo)

Retirement Life Is Busy For Trout Pond Owner

BY MRS. I. R. NELSON

PERRONVILLE — Maybe it's just lazy man's fishing, but for a growing number of anglers private pond fishing makes more sense than beating the brush for a trout that may or may not be hungry.

No trouble, no bother and plenty of fish. Just toss the rod in the car and go. On private ponds, you don't even need a license.

A newcomer to the trout pond business is August Schultz, who has installed three well-stocked ponds on his Perronville Trout Farm just north of the railroad tracks on M-569.

Schultz sold his poultry farm last year and claims he retired, but from the amount of work involved in the trout project it appears as though he just shifted enterprise.

Ground was built-dozed for each of the three ponds on three levels with a variation in depth to 12 feet in each pond. The lowest and smallest pond, 100 by 100 feet, is nearest the track and is stocked with 2,000 brook trout. The middle pond is the largest, 100 by 400 feet, and contains 5,000 brook and rainbow trout.

Size of the fish range from four to 12 inches.

"When I got the fish from the Evergreen Hatchery in Pound, Wis., last year, they were about four inches long," Schultz said. "They have done real well. The two lower ponds are spring fed and the upper one is surface water."

Schultz said the upper pond is about 100 by 300 feet and about two acres surrounding it are fenced.

He expects to get two deer this month to place in the area to go with the four pair of Canada geese he purchased from a farm near Saginaw last year. Two pair have mated for life.

Schultz said four of the geese flew south last November, but returned in late April.

"If all goes well I want to make another pond or two next year," Schultz said. "This year I'll be finishing work on the house."

It sounds like a busy schedule for someone who "retired" a year ago.

Advocate 'Yes' Vote For Special Education

The voters of Delta and Schoolcraft counties, when they go to the polls at the annual school election to be held June 13, will also vote on the question of millage to finance a program of Special Education.

The need for a Special Education program "to meet the special needs of our children" has been cited in an informative booklet entitled "Special Education for Delta and Schoolcraft Counties."

The goal of Special Education, the booklet says, is to provide educational opportunities for children with physical, mental and emotional handicaps. Consequently, the one mill levy will be used to employ teachers, and other personnel such as speech therapists, visiting teachers, home - bound teachers, psychologists, diagnosticians, physical therapists, and to provide for their transportation, to purchase supplies and equipment and to house Special Education classes.

Children with speech defects, those who are mentally handicapped, partially sighted, hard of hearing, emotionally disturbed or home-bound because of physical handicap due to illness, crippling disease or accident will be served.

Administration of the Special Education program if adopted, would be in the hands of the Delta Schoolcraft Board of Education and an advisory board composed of representative from local school districts and an advisor from the Department of Education.

The small tax now may prevent a larger tax later, for many of the handicapped children trained in the Special Education program will become tax paying citizens rather than tax supported adults, it was pointed out.

The proposal is this: Delta Schoolcraft Counties' school voters will be asked to approve a maximum 1 mill annually for the Special Education program. This levy would be based on state equalized valuation. In most cases, 75 per cent of operating costs is returned from state money. We are already paying into this but deriving no benefits from it. Twenty-five per cent must be raised locally.

Aid All Children

The money derived from this millage can only be used for handicapped. All children have the opportunity to develop to his fullest potential. In a recent survey, upwards of 900 children are in need of these special services.

However, other students will benefit. The regular classroom teacher and her students are sometimes at a disadvantage when slow learners, emotionally disturbed children and others must be given the special attention they require and deserve.

Providing Special Education for the handicapped would relieve regular teachers of this responsibility and give them more time to devote to their work with other pupils.

June 13 is the annual school election. Place and time will be posted in every school district. Voters are asked to contact their local school superintendent for further information.

Governors Will Discuss Safety

WASHINGTON (AP) — Seven governors meet with federal officials here today to seek a role for the states in the setting and enforcing of auto safety standards.

Gov. Clifford P. Hansen of Wyoming, head of the delegation, said the purpose of the meeting was "to see how the states can most effectively cooperate with the federal government in cutting fatalities on the nation's highways."

"Regardless of what legislation is enacted," Hansen said in an interview, "the states are going to be called upon to play a major role in enforcement. You can legislate what might go into a new car, but state inspectors are necessary to see that standards are maintained."

Hansen also said "the states have had a good deal of experience that ought to be useful" in establishment of safety standards.

AEC Sets Off Weapons Blast

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the second day in a row, the Atomic Energy Commission set off a weapons-related underground nuclear test today at its Nevada test site.

Army Officials Plant Gladioli

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Army Stanley R. Resor, Assistant Secretary of Defense Thomas Morris and three generals took turns digging holes in a Pentagon flower bed while in the background, a blue-clad Army band played "America the Beautiful" in soft soothing tones.

The Pentagon officials were planting gladioli bulbs in the name of Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson's campaign to beautify Washington.

But the "Pentagon Beautification Program," as it was described, received a quick setback. Two Army photographers trampled on the flower bed in their eagerness to take a picture of the event.

Submit Names

Appointments to city boards or committees will be made annually June 1. Persons seeking appointment should submit their names to City Manager George Harvey immediately.

The names will be considered by the Council at its next meeting.

There will be three openings on the Library Board; several on the Safety Advisory Committee; and possibly some on other committees also.

boards and commission and creating them by Council resolution. The resolutions included changes designed to make the boards and commissions operate more effectively and to encourage citizen interest.

The number of members will be reduced on the Library Board from 8 to 7, the Safety Advisory Committee from 11 to 7, and the Recreation Department from 11 to 7.

At the same time the members of the streamlined bodies will be required to attend meetings—if they miss three unexcused meetings they will be automatically removed.

To force a change of membership and make openings for appointments, individuals who serve for six years (two three-year terms) may not be considered for reappointment for a year.

Quiz School Candidates

The League of Women Voters will ask three questions and will give the public the opportunity to ask additional questions of the two candidates for the Escanaba Area Public School Board at a meeting to be held at the Chamber of Commerce building at 8 p. m. Monday, June 6.

The League sponsors the meetings as a voters' information service project. Interested citizens are invited to attend.

Mrs. Earl Owen, the League's voter service chairman, today reported that both candidates for the School Board have accepted invitations to be present. They are:

Carlton R. Olsen, Willow Creek Road, president of the School Board, who is completing his first four year term. He is employed by an Escanaba building firm.

Marvin Marshall, 1415 1st Ave. S., a native of Missouri, is employed by the U. S. Forest Service. He is lands staff forester and has lived in Escanaba seven years.

The School Board election will be held Monday, June 13. Voters will elect one of the two men to the Escanaba Area Public Schools Board of Education for a term of four years.

All registered voters in the Area Public School district—Escanaba city, Wells, Cornell and Ford River townships—are eligible to vote.

The League of Women Voters will ask three questions of the candidates:

- 1—What is your philosophy of public education?
- 2—What is your attitude toward the Community school concept and in what proportion do you think it should be financed by the City and by the Schools?
- 3—In your opinion, what are the most urgent needs of the public schools?

Equal time is allotted the candidates for their answers. The timekeeper will be Mrs. Walter Kulik. The meeting will be conducted by Mrs. N. L. Lundquist, League president.

Questions in writing may also be asked by persons attending the meeting.

Refreshments will be served and Mrs. Robert Schmeling is chairman.

MINNESOTA TWINS' catcher Earl Battey clutches ball in his glove as he waits at home plate for airborne Jim Northrup of Detroit in the sixth inning of the American League game at Twin Cities Thursday. ## Tigers Down, But Not Out MINNEAPOLIS — ST. PAUL (AP)—It didn't take long for the Minnesota Twins to find out that it takes more than outing an old tormentor or two to beat the Tigers.

The Twins knocked Mickey Lolich out of the box by the fourth inning Thursday but the Tigers rallied to win, 7-6, with another of their come-from-behind finishes.

Minnesota got rid of Dave Wickersham in the first game of the two-game set Wednesday night, but lost that one, too.

Wickersham and Lolich entered the series with a combined 17-7 career record over the Twins. Wickersham was 13-7, Lolich 4-0.

The Twins took a 4-0 lead in the second inning off Lolich on runs-scoring singles by Earl Battey and Bernie Allen and two-run triple by Zoilo Versalles.

Jerry Lumpe's double, following singles by Dick McAuliffe and Don Wert, got two of the runs back in the Detroit third.

Lolich was lifted for a pinch-hitter after the Tiger loaded the bases with only one away in the fourth. But Willie Horton—still in the midst of a hitting slump—hit into a double play.

Harmon Killebrew, who upped the Twins' lead to 5-2 with a solo homer in the fifth, paved the way for the Tigers' winning rally in the seventh when he threw low on an attempted force play at the plate.

The error allowed Al Kaline, who had doubled home Norm Cash with the tying run, to score. A bases-loaded walk to McAuliffe forced Don Demeter home with the final run of the inning.

Battey's solo homer in the ninth was the only run in four innings of relief work by Fred Gladding, who notched his second victory of the season and first in three career decisions against the Twins.

Mays Snaps Plate Slump

NEW YORK (AP)—Figuring the Majors:

Willie Mays has snapped out of his slump by collecting 10 hits in his last 25 times at bat, a 400 pace, and lifting his batting average 22 points to .274. The San Francisco star has hit safely in his last six games, including Thursday night's 5-0 victory over Atlanta in which he had a run-producing double and a single in three tries.

Baltimore's Brooks Robinson is setting a hot runs-batted-in pace. He drove in three runs Thursday as the Orioles downed California 9-6, boosting his American League-leading total to 45 in 44 games. After 44 games last season, he had only 19 RBI. He wound up with 80.

Radatz Moves Act To Cleveland, But Script Still Same

By The Associated Press
Dick Radatz now is doing his latest act for the Cleveland Indians — and it still works like magic.

First he appears. Then he disappears.

Radatz did both in the seventh inning Thursday night just hours after the Indians acquired him from Boston. He faced eight batters, retired one, watched five cross the plate and left with the Indians well on their way to an 11-4 loss to Kansas City.

Earlier in the day, Radatz had been frank in expressing his pleasure with the trade that sent him from the struggling Red Sox to the American League leading Indians in exchange for pitchers Lee Stange and Don McMahon.

"It's like starting life all over again — being born again," said Radatz. "There's nothing wrong with my arm. My trouble is mechanical and if I pitch the way I think I can, the Indians will win the pennant."

The way Radatz thinks he can pitch is the way he pitched from 1962 to 1964 when he was dubbed the Monster and twice won the Fireman of the Year award as baseball's No. 1 relief pitcher. The way he pitched against the A's is the way he's pitched the last two years while breaking in his disappearing act.

The Kansas City victory, coupled with Boston's 12-2 loss to Washington, tumbled the Red Sox into the AL cellar while the A's climbed into ninth place.

Elsewhere, Baltimore outlasted California 9-6 in 10 innings. Detroit edged Minnesota 7-6 and the New York Yankees defeated the Chicago White Sox 5-3.

In the National League, San Francisco blanked Atlanta 5-0. Pittsburgh shut out the New York Mets by the same score. Los Angeles nipped St. Louis 2-0. Philadelphia downed the Chicago Cubs 5-4 and Houston blasted Cincinnati 11-4 in 12 innings.

The Senators collected 13 hits, and made the most of three Red Sox errors, eight walks, a wild pitch and a balk. Dick Nen hit a homer and drove in three runs for Washington and Ed Brinkman collected three hits.

Andy Etchebarren's sacrifice fly in the 10th inning broke a 5-5 tie for the Orioles, who went on to score three more runs in the inning on singles by pitcher Stu Miller and Boog Powell.

Luis Aparicio stroked his fifth hit of the game during the uprising that sent the Angels down to their third straight losing loss.

Harmon Killebrew hit his fourth homer in as many games for the Twins but his wild throw in the seventh inning let in the tie-breaking run for the Tigers.

Killebrew's throw to the plate on Bill Freehan's grounder allowed Al Kaline to score and snap a 3-5 tie. Kaline had doubled in the tying run.

Bobby Richardson's three-run double and Steve Hamilton's relief pitching got the job done for the Yankees. Richardson's hit capped a four-run fourth inning uprising which wiped out a 3-1 White Sox lead and Hamilton preserved the victory with a three-hit performance over the final seven innings.

In This Corner with Ray Crandall

Stock car racing, one of the top spectator attractions in this area in recent years, got off to a successful start in spite of poor weather conditions last weekend. . . . The Upper Peninsula Racing Association program at the fairgrounds oval drew over 1,200 spectators Monday afternoon. . . . Highlight of the day was a record breaking run by Bobby Iverson of Hyde who whipped his modified stock around the track in 19.61 seconds, wiping out the former record of 20.85 which was held by Bob Mayou of Escanaba.

Dave (Whitey) Horka, veteran right-hander, opened the Soo softball season in spectacular style this week with a no-hit mound performance as his Northview team blanked National Guard, 10-0. . . . Horka whiffed 13 batters in the game which was halted after five innings because of the league's 10-run rule.

Earl Dumais, director of the Escanaba Minor League baseball program, is searching for two managers for the coming seasons. . . . The Bankers and VFW teams are without managers and Dumais states that the league will have to start without those two teams if managers can not be obtained. . . . He hopes to get the league games started by June 13. . . . Anyone interested in helping manage a team may contact Dumais at 786-5824.

Northern Michigan University has landed another basketball prize in Ted Rose, 6 foot 6 inch All-America high school player from Louisville. . . . Rated one of the top college prospects in Kentucky, Rose last season averaged 19.7 points and 15.5 rebounds to lead his team to the runner-up spot in the state playoffs. . . . He was an all-state choice in his junior and senior years.

Art Marcell of Norway, third sacker on the crack Western Michigan University baseball team this spring, finished with a .342 batting average for the Broncos. . . . Marcell laced 16 hits in 66 trips to the plate.

Buffle Is Good Belmont Choice

NEW YORK (AP) — If you believe that experience is paramount in a horse race, go no further than Buffle in looking for the probable winner of Saturday's $125,000-added Belmont Stakes at Aqueduct.

Although not heavily campaigned, the home-bred son of Zenith out of a Bold Venture mare, Refurbish, is supported heavily by a cast wide in the ways of the 12-mile race, which winds up the Triple Crown competition for 3-year-olds.

Post time Saturday is 5:15 p.m., EDT, with television (CBS) slated for 5:30 p.m.

Buffle is owned by Robert Kleberg's King Ranch, which has won three runnings of the Belmont in 11 tries — with Triple Crown winner Assault in 1916, Middleground in 1950 and High Gun in 1954. He is trained by 85-year-old Max Hirsch, who has saddled four winners — the King Ranch trio and Vitway back in 1928. And he'll be ridden by Manuel Ycaza, who has tried four times and won once — with Quadrangle two years ago.

Buffle Is Good Belmont Choice

NEW YORK (AP) — If you believe that experience is paramount in a horse race, go no further than Buffle in looking for the probable winner of Saturday's $125,000-added Belmont Stakes at Aqueduct.

Although not heavily campaigned, the home-bred son of Zenith out of a Bold Venture mare, Refurbish, is supported heavily by a cast wide in the ways of the 12-mile race, which winds up the Triple Crown competition for 3-year-olds.

Post time Saturday is 5:15 p.m., EDT, with television (CBS) slated for 5:30 p.m.

Buffle is owned by Robert Kleberg's King Ranch, which has won three runnings of the Belmont in 11 tries — with Triple Crown winner Assault in 1916, Middleground in 1950 and High Gun in 1954. Players' Market In Pro Football

NEW YORK (AP) — It's a players' market in pro football. Bud Adams, owner of the Houston Oilers of the American Football League, says at least 100 National Football League veterans have contacted AFL teams.

NFL Commissioner Pete Rozell says both leagues are concerned about lame duck players. AFL Commissioner Al Davis is strangely silent.

The big fuss started May 17 when the New York Giants announced they had signed Pete Gogolak, the soccer-style place-kicker who played out his option with Buffalo and the AFL.

Two NFL strongmen, George Halas, owner-coach of the Chicago Bears, and Vince Lombardi, coach-general manager of the Green Bay Packers, have said they didn't like the idea.

"I think good judgment was not used," said Halas.

"I did not like it and many others did not like it either," said Lombardi.

Computer Picks Next Fall's Hits

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Selecting popular television shows, sometimes before they are much more developed than an idea, once was considered to be a special art, even a gift. But now picking winners is becoming a science, with computers able to toss out predictions of future hits and misses six months in advance of their premieres.

One of the large advertising agencies — Kenyon and Eckhardt — has been experimenting with computer predictions for the past two years, with an estimated 67 per cent of success. In its third run, predicting the popularity of next fall's new programs, the magic machine pronounced, among many other things, that "T. H. E. Cat,"

"Tarzan" and "Hey, Landlord" on NBC and "It's About Time" on CBS would be the biggest hits among three dozen new programs.

Wrong Too

"But, remember," cautioned the agency's executive vice president, Stephens Dietz, "if the computer has been 67 per cent correct, it has also been 33 per cent wrong."

The electronic crystal ball is programmed with national Nielsen ratings taken during January and February, peak viewing months, to predict future popularity of programs already in existence. These are augmented by statistics of another ratings service, which attempts to measure, not audience size but the degree to which audiences enjoy certain programs. To measure future interest in new shows — some, like the forthcoming Milton Berle and Garry Moore shows, are not even in production yet — the agency uses a service specializing in what it calls "concept testing." An audience sample has a program idea described to them, and notes down whether it appeals or not.

In addition, the computer input includes information on a program's time period and its competition.

Not Popularity Alone

Dietz said that in past seasons the computer's predictions have been used as one of his agency's guides in buying advertising spots in assorted programs.

But while an advertising agency can very well use a computer to help find hit programs for its clients, it is not likely to be too useful to network programming executives. Popularity cannot be their sole guide. If it were, few documentaries and public service programs — often attracting small audiences — would find air time.

CBS hopes to re-run its acclaimed production of "Death of a Salesman" next March. It was so heartened by the show's reception that it is trying to follow up with a TV production of Tennessee Williams' "Glass Menagerie," which starred the late Laurette Taylor when first produced on Broadway years back.

For Weekend

ABC's "Wide World of Sports" on Saturday will show the running of Memorial Day's "Indianapolis 500" in which only seven of the original 33 automobile entries finished. ABC has broadcast the race, on a delayed basis, for the past four years.

Recommended weekend viewing:

Tonight — "The London Palladium," NBC, 8:30-9:30 EDT, second of a series of variety shows taped in England, with Kate Smith as hostess; "The Age of Man," CBS, 10-11, repeat of Shakespeare readings by Sir John Gielgud.

SUNDAY — "The Age of Kennedy," NBC, 6:30-7:30 p.m., second of a two-part series on the late President, this one dealing with his White House years; "The Ed Sullivan Show," CBS, 8-9, with a taped segment featuring the Beatles in two songs.

CHANNEL MASTER'S

Jetaway leaves all other tape recorders behind!

This little recorder (just 4 1/2 lbs. light and 8"x4"x4" small) sounds like a more expensive heavyweight. 2-speed capstan drive, 3-stage audio amplification, and solid state circuitry, are the main reasons for its surprisingly fine performance. You can even record directly from a radio, hi-fi, or another tape recorder. Complete with dynamic microphone and accessories. Model 6471A.

If this tape recorder proves defective within 120 days, we will replace it with a new one, instantly, free.

CHANNEL MASTER

Chorale

PORTABLE TAPE RECORDER

It's a feature you won't usually find even in high-priced tape recorders of the non-portable kind. During group conversation, Automatic Level Control takes a voice which is close to the mike — and a distant voice twenty feet away — and automatically records them at a uniform volume level. Other features: Single lever control, digital counter, professional Vu-Meter, tone control, 7" tape reel, 3 1/2 and 7 1/2 IPS speeds. Fine for both voice and music because superb solid state hi-fi circuitry assures life-like sound. All accessories. The price? Come hear if that isn't the biggest surprise of all. Model 6465.
